

HAGGIN'S TURF CAREER STORMY; HE NOW RETURNS AFTER ABSENCE OF TEN YEARS.

J. B. Haggin, the multi-millionaire, who recently started horse racing by purchasing Edwin & Laramie's great string of thoroughbreds, has had a most eventful and stormy turf career.

Twelve years ago his colors, "blue and orange sleeves," were potent factors in the van of a struggling field of horses, for "the man of mystery," as Haggin was often called, had first-class thoroughbreds. Few stables contained horses of the high caliber that Salvator, Firenze, Fresno, Yum Yum, Ben Ali and a few others possessed, and they were seldom defeated.

First Race in California.
California first saw Mr. Haggin's horses racing. When the boundary line of that State became too cramped for the flying hoofs of his great horses, he shipped them East. He started the Kentuckians by taking the blue ribbon event, the Derby, away in 1886 with his colt Ben Ali, named after his only son.

This race was notable for many things out of the ordinary.
In the first place, Haggin asserted his right to "do as he pleased." He was no sanguine that Ben Ali would win the Derby that he drew $20,000 out of the bank the morning of the race and went to the track prepared to let the bookmakers to a standstill. But Col. Lewis Clark, the ruling spirit of the Louisville track, would otherwise. He had had a fight with the penitentiaries over the amount to be paid to the association for the privilege of hanging up their plates, and he kept them out of the inclosure because they would not accede to his terms.

When Haggin found he could not let the bookmakers he tried to get his money down in the auction room. The race-track sharpshooter's desire to get Ben Ali and they let him have him after he had paid about $120 for each pool with Ben Ali the choice against the field. This increased Haggin's bitterness against the track and after Ben Ali had won and been cooled off he ordered the other horses placed on a special train of cars and shipped away from the roof of the old Recorder building on Spruce street just east of Park row.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon twelve men assembled on the Recorder building roof. Four carried the birds and one man had a camera.

As soon as the crowd assembled on the roof a pit of canvas, with circular wooden rim and built in sections, was erected. The principals got together and evidently arranged the final details of the match, while the man with the camera was getting his lens in proper focus.

In all the offices on the upper floor of the Recorder building, the men who were building across the way, work was suspended. Clerks and women typewriters switched on their lamps and the office work ended an hour later.

When the fight was over the men spurs were removed from the birds, the pit folded up and the crowd went down from the roof through the skylight.

Big and Well-Balanced Fields Start in To-day's Races.

RACE TRACK, NEW ORLEANS.
March 14.—All of the Derby candidates were on the track today receiving their work outs for the big three-year-old race to be run Saturday.

Wild Pirate, the favorite candidate, performed in the six-furlong handicap for all ages. He carried one pound over his stake weight and on that account is seriously considered in the betting. It is conceded that Wild Pirate will be the contender and the only one which Victor has to fear. The impression is that the latter has been rested up longer than he should be, but he still undoubtedly is a warm favorite for the race.

The track was slow today, but promises to be fast by Saturday. The fields started in all of today's events and they were unusually well balanced. Zelma, heavily backed to win the first race, broke down while warming up and bet were declared off and twenty minutes allowed for a new book.

FIRST RACE.

For three-year-olds and up, seven furlongs.
